The American Nurses Association is accredited with distinction as a provider of nursing continuing professional development by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

The National Commission to Address Racism in Nursing, led by the American Nurses Association (the association) and key nursing organizations, remains central to this effort, driving systemic change within the profession.

The association's recent response to executive orders affecting diversity, equity, and inclusion underscores its dedication to advocating for inclusive policies and combating structural inequities in nursing.

ANA continues to work with Congress and federal agencies to mitigate the impact of policies that threaten progress in health equity and workforce diversity.

Breakout Discussion Questions:

- How have you, or are you, integrating an equity and anti-racist lens into your research, (or other work if not in research)?
- What are your plans, including next steps, to keep moving your work forward (e.g., sustainability, scaling, future collaborations, new partners, outreach, advocacy)?
- What are the implications of your work for nursing and beyond?

THANK YOU!
